LONDON PAPERS SUPPRESS NEWS OF RUIZ SUICIDE

London, June 11.—The uppermost question in the minds of the better class of London's public to-day is: What influence was brought to bear What influence was brought to bear on Coroner Thomas, the city authorities involved and certain newspapers which were in possession of the facts to suppress the news of the suicide of Mary Agnes Rulz who figured prominently at the time Mrs. Alfred G Vanderbilt sued for divorce. Despite the tremendous interest that has been awakened in the case since yesterday's disclosure, there is little likelihood of the public curiosity being satisfied for there is every reason to-day for believing another powerful influence in suppressing facts is successful.

The London press at first made much of the case and the mystery surrounding it. To-day the story is ignored of the case and the mystery surrounding it. To-day the story is ignored entirely, with the exception of a perfunctory note in the mourning news. It is hard to recall a case where the papers have acted with such concert which is considered proof that some one with unusual power is behind the movement to suppress the facts. The press declared that several officials had been guilty of malefasence by their conduct to the case and there is a possibility—a bare possibility—that prosecutions will follow. This might clear up the mystery, but the same persons that have succeeded so far in hushing up the details, will probably have sufficient influence to prevent the prosecution of those who falled to make the proper death returns.

A mysterious man, supposed to rep-

the proper death returns.

A mysterious man, supposed to represent the Ruiz family, got busy on the case to-day but it is not known just what his aim is. There is evidence that a small fortune was spent by some one in keeping the details of the suicide from the public. An effort was made to-day to get a statement from Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, regarding the intimation that Mrs. Ruiz took her own life, but the young miltook her own life, but the young mil-lionaire, who has been having the time of his life at the horse show and with his coaching trips, refused to be inter-

An American named Langdon ap-An American named Langdon appeared on the scene to-day. He is supposed to represent the Ruiz family and the rumor is that he is in the employ of Antonio Ruiz, divorced husband of the suicide. He visited the American Embassy in his quest for details but learned that the Embassy was as much in the dark as the public. Langdon then set out in search for persons acquainted with the details. He is keeping his address secret.

At the joint session of the three busirest, hope and confidence as they are rest system for this city. Alderman Wilder, chairman of the sewer committee of sever common council, was present and spoke upon the recommendation of Engineer Hering who had been embloyed by the Sewer Committee. Mr. Hering had sugggested that interceptors be placed in the lower parts of the city. That the system should start at the northern end of the town with say two foot mains, gradually widening to four feet about the center of the city. At the extreme lower end at a point where it is about 27 feet deep. To arrange for the outlay $1,750,000 would be necessary at the start. Joseph Stochr was heard and said that an outlay of $3,000,000 was all together too great. That what the city made at all times to keep up with the mark of the population.

Mayor Lee thought that if the system were constructed the tax rate would have to be increased two mills on the grand list each year. He stated that what was most necessary was food sewers. If he was given $100,000 he would guarantee that he could put the sewers of Bridgeport in first class condition. The mayor asked the meeting if there were any present whould cite defective sewers in their neighborhood. Three out of the whole gathering stood up.

(Special from United Press.) West Point, N. Y., June 11.-In his address to the graduating class of the ness bodies of the city held last evening at the Stratfield considerable discussion arose about the proposed appropriation of $3,000,000 for a new sewer system for this city. Alderman Wilder, chairman of the sewer committee of the system of the sewer committee of maintaining the glory of an institution which has a said the military academy this afternoon, Secretary of War Dickinson said:

ten. Stevenson and his wife were looking over some records of trials in a disease arising from a defective sewer. One stood up and told of the etench arising from the Henry street Among the papers was one describing stench arising from the Henry street basin.

The mayor said that to his knowledge not one instance could be cited in this city of disease from defective sewers. He said that if $3,000,000 in sewer bonds were created, and a debt of $400,000 for a new high school, that, with what would be added for bridges, within five years the total indebtedness of the city would be over $6,000.000 which would be beyond the danger line, being as it is, over five per cent of the grand list. In his opinion no such bonding should be allowed, he said, unless the city had 500,000 inhabitants.

Among the papers was one describing the trial of James Stewart for the murder of a man which Stevenson "read with avidity." He used much of the story in this old court record for "Kidnaped," besides taking out the character of Alan Breck. "David Balfour," the sequel to "Kidnaped," was written in Samoa amid very "distracting circumstances." Mrs. Stevenson says, "With the natives on the verge of war and amid the most kaleidoscople political changes, uncertain as to what moment his personal liberty might be restrained his every action misconrestrained, his every action misconstrued and resented by the white in: habitants of the island, the excitement and fatigue of my husband's daily life might have seemed enough for any one man to endure without the additional
